Though a school administration may treat all its students the same, each individual's reaction will quite assuredly be different. So too, in the halls of Roger Bacon High School many different and independently variant situations happen because of the conflicting interests and "hang-ups" of 1100 male students.

Personalities vary. The hard and too often self-esteemed football players are in complete contrast with the more sensitive intellectual whose frailty is tested by an overabundance of text-books; the unobtrusive student holds not a candle to the swaggering cool guy; and the middle of the road man faces oblivion in his daily routine. Even the faculty sometimes clash, not only with the students, but also with each other. The many aspects of everyone being different lead to the variety of relationships which high school provides.

Interests encompass a wide range. Budding artists of art class, developing writers for the school publications, and talented musicians of the band illustrate this variety of interests. Other students participate in national and international events by becoming involved in political clubs at Bacon. The diverse interests of the Bacon student body engage them in numerous extracurricular activities ranging from athletic teams to religious organizations.

As the high school years progress, changes take place within the student himself. He develops in maturity and awareness, widens his interests and talents, and hopefully strives toward further knowledge and understanding.

Roger Bacon is a versatile building. It is the home of athletic contests, dramas, concerts, and dances. During the school hours it is filled with the great commotion and activity of 1100 Spartans. At 2:35, however, the classrooms and halls empty, leaving the building desolate and uninhabited except for the occasional echoing footsteps of the few who remain.

Contrast, evident among the students and teachers and in the many aspects of school life, is common and increases as the weeks, quarters, and years at Roger Bacon go by. People, interests, places, and activities are all in contrast; and yet they are all in unison. They are all Bacon.

PEOPLE...

Much of a Spartan's life revolves around his school. Roger Bacon is the center of his intellectual development, an outlet for the expression of his talents, and the scene of much of his social life.

Contrast appears in the extent and manner in which each student is influenced by his school life. Though all attend the six hours of daily classes, each is affected in a different way because of the variety of courses offered and the student's interest in the subjects. Participation in extracurricular activities affects each involved student differently. Varying opportunities are available: the band, the athletic teams, the publication staffs, the political clubs, and other clubs and optional classes. Other facets of school life open to all are sporting events and dances, which affect those who attend in various ways.

In the Spartan himself, the many aspects of school life evoke contrasting responses. The student may be filled with pride at a performance of our band, or embarrassed at the failure of a lab experiment. He may eagerly anticipate seeing his writing published in the PENMAN, or dread an upcoming exam. He may be bitterly disappointed by a one-point loss in a basketball game, or overjoyed at a snow cancellation of school.

By its wide range of opportunities, the encompassing school life of Roger Bacon widens the perspectives of each Spartan.

OPENING DAY

TOP: Summertime Blues. MIDDLE: The czar and his bishop, first to arrive. RIGHT: You can get anything you want at Brother Luke's Restaurant!

The great oaken doors of knowledge swing open. A ringing bell summons all to partake in the rigors of school life once more. To the freshman, it is a fresh beginning in a new phase of life; to the sophomore, a reencounter with the faces that were met last year; to the junior, a stress on finding a vocation for life; and for the senior, the beginning of the end of their high school days.

September's ringing bell means vacation has ended, and the next step on the road to maturity has begun.

The pleasures associated with summer weather are relived in a constant exchange of talk; but in the thoughts of the upcoming winter months, a quiet dread prevails. The leisurely hours of summer, whiled away sleeping, soon will be snowed under by homework and bad weather.

A faint glimmer of hope shines through all this gloom with the thought of going to football games and meeting new people at all the other school activities. Though the rut begins anew, the desire to make the upcoming school year better than the previous one is enough to carry the student through.

Empty lonliness . . . warm friendliness!

Senate Elections

The times they are a changin'!

On September 28, the juniors and seniors elected twelve new representatives to the Student Senate for the 1969-70 school year. Those elected were chosen from 103 nominees — all those juniors and seniors who had exhibited outstanding leadership qualities and school spirit. A new concept was added this year in that the students were permitted to nominate some of the candidates for the Senate.

The six incumbent senators from last year and the newly elected senators chose Tim Mulcare to be President; Frank Steer, Vice-President; Frank Abell, Secretary; and Joe Charlton, Treasurer.

Make no mistake. I am the President!

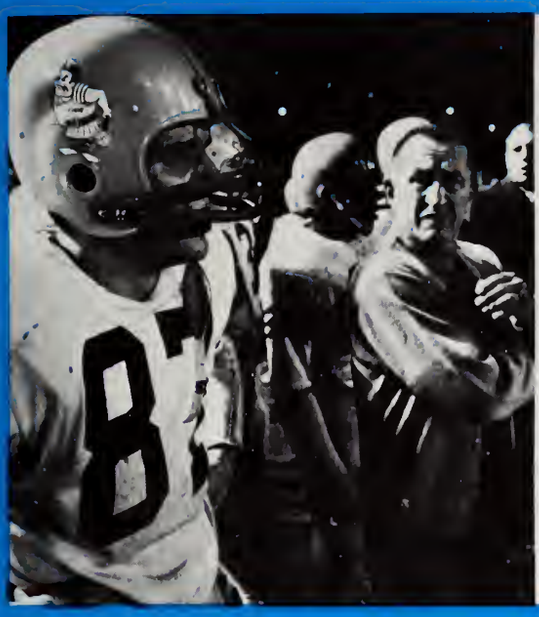
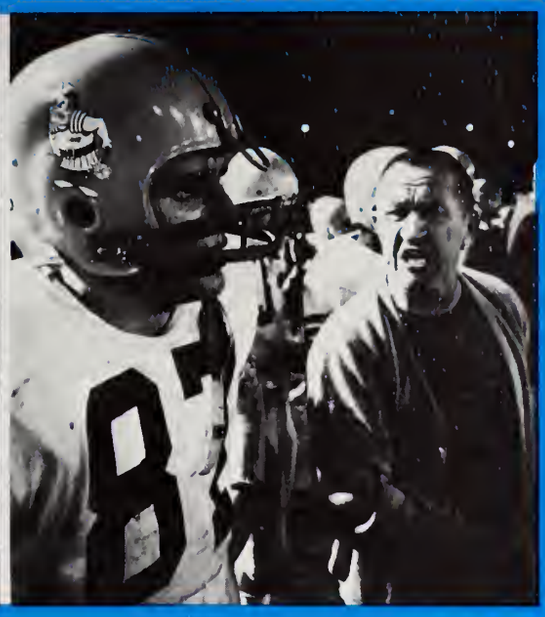
FOOTBALL '69
THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM





According to the high standards of Bacon football tradition, this season's record of 5 and 5 was a disappointment. Even more disappointing was the fact that all five losses were to our top GCL rivals. But the '69 varsity squad was by no means a failure. Throughout the season they played with great determination and a spirit of "Pride, Hustle, and Desire" instilled by Coach Bacevich. Like the great Bacon teams of the past, they earned the esteem of their coaches, fellow students, and followers.

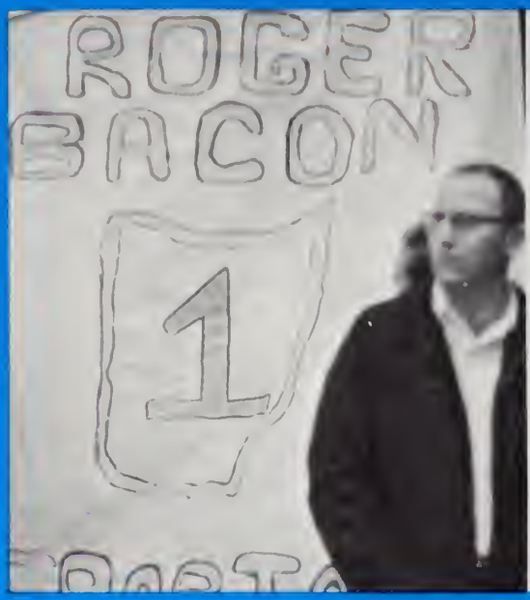
KICK OUT THE JAMS . . .

The Bacon cafeteria — a place to kick out the jams — quickly fills with brothers and sisters, enveloped in the band's pulsating rhythm.

Many are caught up in the beat and soon find themselves moving with the penetrating music "within you, without you;" Many of them spend the entire dance silently watching the band's performance, standing where they can literally feel the music, so close to the amplifiers that they can feel their clothes vibrating.

As the light comes on at 11:30, the music and moving stop. Despite deadened ears and tired limbs, the people file out the doors and enter the sharp, reviving air.

THE IMPROBABLE DREAM



The '69-'70 basketball season has to be ranked among the best in Bacon's history. Guided by the hard work of Coach Klus, loaded with talent, and blessed with four returning starters, Bacon was picked to win the G.C.L. title, and many planned to see St. John Arena. Neither hope was realized. Three G.C.L. teams dealt the Spartans heartbreaking losses, and Moeller defeated Bacon in the finals of the District Tournament.

Many people were responsible for the revitalization of Spartan spirit throughout the season. The new cheerleaders were organized; the Signees went back to work; the Spirit Club planned fantastic pep rallies. Congratulations to all!

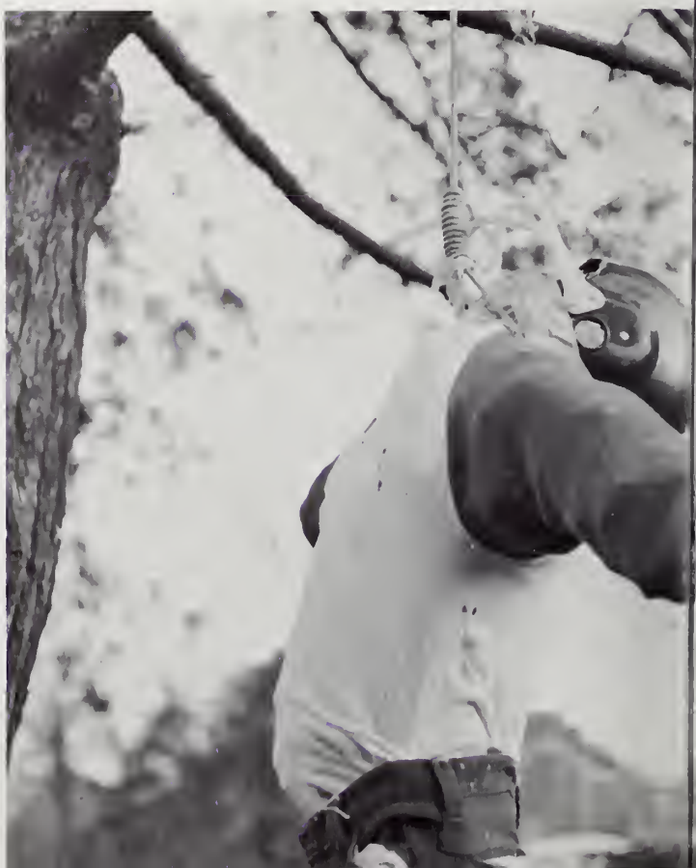
SPIRIT



IT'S ACADEMIC TEAM WINS FIRST ROUND SECOND IN SECOND ROUND

Amongst dust laden books, Moderator Mr. Rieder searched diligently for the necessary intellectuals for the It's Academic Team. His search ended upon the discovery of three carefully stored, unknown intellegentsia. They were: Leo Brausch, Dan Holdgriewe, and Tom Brueggemeyer and alternates Dave Feichtner, Jim Budkie, and Steve Genheimer.

The first round session was held on December 10 in the WLW studios. Prompted by more hecklers than well-wishers, the team defeated Aiken and Boone County. The short-lived victory ended on January 10 when the team finished second to Mt. Healthy after a costly second round.

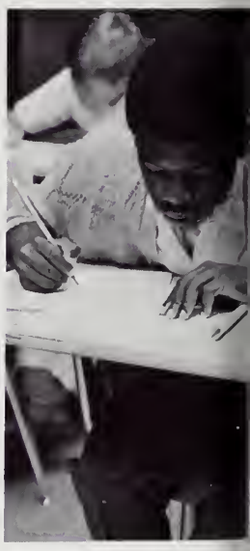
CHRISTMAS SEMIFORMAL

MID-TERM EXAMS

Mid-term exams provide a test for both the students and teachers. To students it is a frantic week of last minute cramming — trying to collect and organize the thousands of catalogued facts filed and discarded during the first semester. The lack of sleep on exam mornings is noticeable from the three nights of 2:00 AM and 3:00 AM studying. Meanwhile all the teachers fight and struggle to have all the exams prepared on time, and then corrected.



INTRAMURALS

FIRST ROW: T. Budke, M. Steinmetz, P. Crawley, J. Foley, J. Abell, M. Day, T. Dreier. SECOND ROW: M. Meinking, J. Thomas, D. Rabe, D. Boesken, S. Griga, S. Timmel.

Two essentials to the growth of the young person are intellectual development in conjunction with the physical. With this in mind, Bacon held its annual intramural program this year. The program gave the less athletic a chance to enjoy the competition of a sporting contest.

The schedule for each homeroom consisted of four games with a playoff for the victors. As always is, the most outstanding and experienced survived. Jerry Foley and Bob Wiegele with their respective teams met in a final playoff with Foley defeating Wiegele.

Stay hard, uptight. Thalidomide? My kid's OK. War? Well, we have to defend ourselves against those bastards. Out of food? Tough. Filthy air? Yeah, the price of progress. A third child? Don't try to tell me what to do. "Human nature" never changes, right? Right, if we want to skid deeper into this ugly jumble of violence, racism, overbreeding, pollution . . . and die.

IN MEMORIAM

A few of the smiles which Hosea and Steve imparted to the rest of the world should be their memoriam. They are able to transcend all boundaries because smiling is something everybody, everywhere does in the same language.

Hosea Rush

Steve Walsh

I read the news today o boy
About a lucky man who made the grade
And though the news was rather sad
Well I just had to laugh
I saw the photograph.
He blew his mind out in a car
He didn't notice that the lights had changed
A crowd of people stood and stared
They'd seen his face before
Nobody was really sure
If he was from the House of Lords.
I saw a film today o boy
The English Army had just won the war
A crowd of people turned away
But I just had to look
Having read the book.
I'd love to turn you on
Woke up, fell out of bed,
Dragged a comb across my head
Found my way downstairs and drank a cup,
And looking up I noticed I was late.
Found my coat and grabbed my hat
Made the bus in seconds flat
Found my way upstairs and had a smoke,
Somebody spoke and I went into a dream.
I read the news today o boy
Four thousand holes in Blackburn, Lancashire
And though the holes were rather small
They had to count them all
Now they know how many holes it takes
To fill the Albert Hall.
I'd love to turn you on

4TH ANNUAL ACADEMIC BANQUET

The fourth annual Academic Banquet began with the traditional imbibing of cocktail punch. During the subsequent half hour, the parents of the Bacon scholars met with other parents and teachers. Following the invocation, the dinner began. After the meal, numerous speakers ascended the rostrum to commend the scholars. Awards were given to the top students in each division — Steve Genheimer, Senior Divison; Tom Brueggemeyer, Junior Divison; Tom Papin, Sophomore Division; and Bob Denterlein, Freshman Division. The banquet ended with a prayer for thanks and the scholars left with a feeling of achievement.

"TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD"

The house lights dimmed, the audience settled, and the long-awaited production of "To Kill A Mockingbird" began. The wait was definitely worthwhile, and the students who attended felt that the presentation was the best in their years at Bacon.

The story is told by Jeremy Finch, the narrator, who recalls the people and the town of Maycomb, Alabama, during the Depression. Three youngsters, Scout, Jem, and Dill are forced to face the realities of life through a series of incidents leading up to the trial of Tom Robinson, a black man accused of attacking Mayella Ewell.

The outcome of the trial and consequent disasters in Maycomb form in Scout, Jem, and Dill the awareness that the worth of a human being is not dependent upon first impressions.

The production was presented by players from Roger Bacon, OLA, and Ursuline. The play was produced by Mr. Nicholas Rieder and directed by Mr. John Schrimpf. Set design and construction was done by Mrs. Carolyn Gastright and several Bacon and OLA students.

Prom '70

This year the Roger Bacon Junior-Senior Prom was held on the evening of April 17th in the Netherlan Hilton Hotel in the Pavillion Caprice Room. Music for the evening was provided by the Don Lackey Orchestra which was hired after several fruitless attempts of having a good rock band. The highlight of the night came at 12:00 PM when Jerry Foley and Patty Rhoades were crowned Prom King and Prom Queen to the surprise of no one.

Although the Prom is the social highlight of the spring season, it seems to have lost much of the anticipation and fanfare that it once held for students. In the last few years, the Prom has become a device for social acceptance instead of a night to remember.

PEOPLE ...

The fact that Roger Bacon offers its students four different academic programs is one of the major reasons that Roger Bacon has consistently produced capable graduates.

The Honors Program has been developed to fulfill the needs of the outstanding college-bound students. The program revolves around a core of advanced literature, science, mathematics, and languages. The program's major purpose is to challenge the student's superior ability and to prepare him to enter whichever field of endeavor he chooses.

The Arts and Sciences Program was designed to prepare the students for college work and includes nearly half of the students enrolled at Roger Bacon. This program consists mainly of lab sciences, social studies, math, and languages.

The Commercial Program accomplishes a two-fold purpose: teaching the basic fundamentals to obtain a job immediately after graduation, and preparing the college-bound student for the business degree he seeks. This program includes general business, marketing, bookkeeping, typing, and general maths.

The Technical Program was designed for the mechanically-inclined students. The course includes general physics, electricity, technical math, and mechanical drawing; it prepares the student for a job or advanced mechanical training.

PEOPLE...

Extracurricular organizations at Roger Bacon offer each student the opportunity to participate in community action. The Student Senate strives to maintain the high level of prestige that Roger Bacon High School has attained in the community. The Glee Club encourages the student who has a good voice to utilize it to the utmost.

The PENMAN and the BACONIAN enable the student to employ his literary skills in various fields of literature and journalism. Unlike the school's other publications the TROUBADOUR offers the student the opportunity to be creative in publishing a review of the year's activities.

The Chess and Science Clubs offer the interested student an opportunity to participate in an intellectually stimulating activity. The French and Spanish Clubs complement the study of the language in the classroom. The Safety Council and Environment group allow the socially inclined student to aid in making his community safer and cleaner place to exist in.

For the politically oriented student there are three clubs, the Young Democrats, the Young Republicans, and the Council on World Affairs, which offer students insights into some of the major crises facing the people of the world.

. . . Who's gonna buy these!

"Do it over creatively!" This quote fittingly typifies the goal of the 1970 TROUBADOUR staff. To put it quite simply, we have tried to produce the finest yearbook ever to come out of Roger Bacon.

Involved in the process of making TROUBADOUR '70 "the best ever," we have spent many long frustrating hours of hard work. We have tried to discard the tradition-bound yearbook of Roger Bacon, and present something new and alive.

For anyone who is at a loss about the theme, our theme this year was "contrast," and we have tried to emphasize this by the effective use of copy, pictures, and headlines.

We consider this book a yearbook with a message. We have tried to capture the apathy of the senior, the revolutionary spirit of the junior, the school spirit of the sophomore, and the bewilderment of the freshman. We have tried for the best — hopefully we have succeeded.

PEOPLE ...

From before Roger Bacon High School opens its doors in September till the school closes them again in June, the various sounds of Spartan athletes practicing and competing can be heard each day at and about 4320 Vine Street — the devastating crunch of a collision on the gridiron, the soft thumping of the flying feet barely touching the cinder track, the light swish of the arched basketball ripping the cords of a net in the gym, and the sharp crack of the heavy bat meeting the baseball on the diamond.

In each sport the Spartan athlete learns and shares the noble ideals of the true sportsman; he discovers the value of sweat and toil, the thrill of competition, the joys of winning, and the disappointments of defeat; he enriches his life by making new friends and developing a better mind and a stronger body.

The pain of long distance running.

Butch Boylan and the Sundance Kids.

Coach Boylan believed that the cross country team had a fair season considering the fact that the Spartan harriers lost seven of their top nine runners of 1968-69 season through graduation and that the members of this year's team were relatively young.

The varsity, led by captain Dave Schneider and junior, Jay Ritchie, finished fifth in the GCL meet and fourth in the District meet, and the baby Spartans finished fourth in the District.

Jay Ritchie, a junior, was the outstanding runner on this year's squad. He finished sixth in the District of eighty-five runners and was twentieth in the Regional meet.

The brightest spot of the cross country season was the development of the twelve sophomores on the team. In order to keep the team in shape, Coach Boylan initiated the Roger Bacon 500-Mile Club of which each member must run 500 miles by March first.

IT'S OUR TURN TO CHEER!
We proudly salute the over 1690 students (and, of course, their enthusiastic classmates, teachers and advisors) who have competed, since 1963, in CG&E's exciting TV quiz IT'S ACADEMIC!

In participating they have won for their school libraries more than 19,000 volumes of reference books.

We're delighted to recognize and encourage the academic achievements of our area's high school students. And we look forward to continuing to do so.
